6.1.-GENERAL DEFINITIONS OF CONTRACT

6.1.1.-PREAMBLE

Pursuant to use of contractual freedom duly stated in the Positive Law on Marine Insurance, this policy is governed by the provisions of the Special Conditions of this policy schedule and the General Conditions attached hereto, as well as by the provisions of the Spanish Code of Commerce (articles 737 to 805) and, supplementarily, by the Law 50/80, 8th October, on Insurance Contracts (B.O.E. [Spanish Official Government bulletin] of 17 October 1980). However, pursuant to articles 44 and 107.2 of the Insurance Contract Law, according to the new wording modified by the 6th Additional Provision of Law 30/95, 8th November (B.O.E. no. 268 of 09/11/95), the parties to this contract may agree to waive those provisions they deem appropriate as stated in Law 50/80, imperatively or otherwise. Such agreement would be expressed by means of a special condition, provided this is expressly accepted by both parties. FIATC, Mutua de Seguros y Reaseguros is registered in Spain and its business comes under the auspices of the Directorate General of Insurance and Pension Funds.

6.1.2.-DEFINITIONS

Fiatc, Mutua de Seguros y Reaseguros

Insured: Natural or legal person who is the owner of the interest exposed to the risks covered by the insurance and to whom the rights deriving from the contract correspond. The Insured may assume the obligations and duties of the Policyholder.

Policyholder: The natural person or legal entity who, together with the Insurer, takes out this contract and to whom the obligations arising from it correspond, except for those which, due to the type of obligation, must be complied with and fulfilled by the person Insured.

Insurer: FIATC MUTUA DE SEGUROS Y REASEGUROS, which, by means of the receipt of the premium and within the limits agreed, assumes coverage of the risks stated in the policy.

Beneficiary: The individual or legal entity that has the right to compensation and/or indemnity, as per that assigned by the Insured

Third party: Any individual or legal entity other than the policyholder or the insured. For the purposes of the civil liability cover, third parties are not considered to be either the Policyholder or the Insured, their spouses, ascendants and descendants; relatives who live with them; partners, managers, employees and persons who are de facto or de jure dependent on the Policyholder or the Insured, while acting within the scope of the aforementioned dependence.

Policy: The document containing the conditions governing the insurance. The General Conditions, the Special Conditions of the policy schedule that individualize the risk, and the Supplements or Appendices that are issued to the policy to complement or modify it are an integral part of the policy.

SPECIAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

6. CONDITIONS OF COVERAGE

Premium: The price of the insurance. The receipt will also contain any legally applicable surcharges and taxes.

Sum insured: The amount fixed in each of the sections of the policy, and which therefore represents the maximum limit of indemnity payable by the Insurer for all items in the event of loss or accident.

Loss: Any event whose harmful consequences are totally or partially covered by the guarantees of this policy. The damages arising from the same original cause, regardless of the number of claimants or claims made, shall be deemed to constitute one single loss event.

Sum insured per claim: The amount that for each risk the Insurer undertakes to pay, as a maximum, for the sum of all indemnities, interest and expenses pertaining to a claim, regardless of the number of victims or injured parties.

Sum insured per victim: Where applicable and for each risk, this is the amount that the Insurer is to pay out as a maximum, for the sum of all the indemnity, interest and expenses corresponding to the victim, together with those which may correspond to their successors or injured parties, where applicable. Hence, it is understood that the limit per claim stated in your policy schedule will apply in the event of the same accident in which there may be several victims or injured parties, and the limit individually stipulated for each victim shall be observed in all cases.

Actual cash value or market value: The cost of buying a new vessel, minus the technical depreciation based on its useful life, age, use, wear and tear and degree of use, immediately prior to the occurrence of a loss.

Insured value : This is the value that the Insurer and the Insured expressly agree to establish in the contract for the insured property, and which must be taken into account for the calculation of the indemnity in the event of loss.

The stated insured value requires a list in the policy of those assets insured under this option, and the valuation assigned to them.

The Insurer may only appeal against this stated value when acceptance of this sum had been obtained by violence or intimidation, or in case of fraud. This also applies for those cases where, due to error, the replacement cost is significantly higher than the actual cash value, at the time of loss, as established by an expert appraisal.

Replacement cost: The amount that would be required to purchase a new boat, equal to the one insured, or another of similar characteristics if the model had been discontinued.

Declared value: The declared value must correspond to the value as new or, subject to acceptance by the Insurer, to the market value of the insured vessel.

Proportional Rule: Formula applied in the determination of the sum of the indemnity when there is underinsurance (sum insured lower than the value of the vessel). In the event of loss, if the estimated value of the vessel shows that its value as new or its market value is higher than the value declared at the time the policy was taken out or that there were subsequent modifications, the Insured shall be considered as the insurer of the deductible and shall bear part of the damage to the vessel in the same proportion that exists between the sum declared and the value of the vessel.

Actual cash value: The market value of the insured vessel, in its conditions of use and wear and tear, at the time immediately prior to the occurrence of the loss.

Material damage: Any damage, deterioration or destruction of a thing, as well as any physical damage to animals as living beings.

Personal injury: Any bodily injury or death caused to a natural person.

Consequential loss: The economic loss that is a direct consequence of the personal injury or property damage covered by the contract and suffered by the claimant of such loss.

Deductible: The monetary amount or for its deduction established in your policy schedule which, in the event of a loss, shall not be paid by Fiatc, given that the Insured is liable to pay this part directly (as Insurer of their own risk) or have it paid by a different insurance company. Therefore, Fiatc shall only indemnify claims up to the limit of the sum insured in excess of the amounts resulting from the deductible. If the amount of the claim, even in unfounded claims, is less than the established deductible, then there will be no pay out.

The percentage expressed as deductible in your policy schedule shall be understood to refer to and be applicable to the value of the boat.

Auxiliary craft (tenders): Any craft of any type, regardless of its means of propulsion, whose maximum length does not exceed 4 metres and with a power to a maximum of 8 kW, provided that it is intended exclusively as a tender to the main recreational craft

The Insurer will handle the claim and be responsible for paying legal fees, while the Insured, the claimant must grant the necessary powers in order for the Insurer to act on their behalf, providing all possible assistance.

If the Insurer obtains payment of an indemnity from the party liable for injury or damages or their insurer via an agreed settlement and does not consider it likely that a better result will be obtained by taking legal action, they will duly inform the Insured. If the latter does not accept the terms of the settlement, they may continue with the claim at their own expense, upon which the involvement of the Insurer is finished. It is the Insurer's responsibility to decide whether it is appropriate to claim an indemnity. If they do not, they shall notify the Insured and the latter shall be free to make a claim, but at their own expense.

Any indemnity that the Insurer obtains from a liable third party shall be applied in the first place to reimburse the Insurer for the sums that it has paid to the Insured by virtue of the coverage provided by this policy, except for death or permanent disability (which shall be cumulative to those sums already received) as a result of a loss, and the difference shall be paid to the Insured. All payments to be made by the Insurer under this cover may not exceed the maximum amount for the civil liability cover, when adding this to legal assistance, and bonds such as bail bonds.

6.4.-WARRANTIES OF DAMAGES

A.- What this policy covers you for

Subject to the economic limits, terms and conditions set out in the contract, this insurance policy covers you for the following:

- Constructive total loss or abandonment of the insured vessel as a result of an event at sea, meaning the total and definitive destruction or disappearance of the insured vessel and event at sea. This may be interpreted as arising from any of the following causes: shipwreck, fire or explosion of the machinery, lightning, collision with docks or mooring facilities, collisions or collisions with fixed and floating objects, collision in general, grounding, running aground or grounding or hitting the seabed or being struck by a wave during a storm. In cases where there may be a right to abandon ship, within a period of thirty days following notification of such abandonment of an insured vessel, the Insurer reserves the right to decide whether to accept this abandonment and settle the claim as a total loss without transfer of ownership. Similarly, the total loss of the boat is covered as a result of vandalism or malicious acts, other than theft, caused by person or persons alien to the vessel, provided that the boat is in a suitable "port or storage facility", and has the necessary security measures.

· Total loss of the vessel. This is taken to be when damage suffered to the vessel of the Insured as a result of an event at sea or any other risk incurred during its stay on land as defined in the previous section, would lead to a repair exceeding 75% of the actual cash or market value of the vessel. In this case, the Insurer reserves the right to indemnify the Insured as if it were a total loss, deducting from the settlement the residual value of the damaged vessel or what is left of it.

· Salvage costs. These are understood to be the reasonable expenses incurred by the Insured in order to comply with their obligation to save the insured vessel from sinking or destruction or to minimise the consequences of the loss. For the above purposes, salvage expenses shall be understood to be the reasonable cost of towing the damaged vessel to the nearest port.

· Removal of wreck in compliance with the regulations of the competent Maritime Authority, provided that there is cause for indemnity and up to a maximum limit of 10% of the sum insured for hull, machinery and accessories.

Outboard motors are covered for theft only and exclusively when they are fixed to the hull by means of an anti-theft device, in addition to their normal means of attachment.

Accessories that are not a fixed part of the boat, and which belong to the navigation equipment, are only covered if they are under lock and key and comply with the above requirements.

The amount of the indemnity in each event for this concept together with that corresponding to any possible specific damage may not exceed the insured value of the vessel.

Damage suffered by the boat when either entering or leaving the water is included, provided that such manoeuvres are carried out by qualified personnel and with materials and elements suitable for such operations.

2.-In the event of permanent disability occurring immediately or within twelve months of the date of the accident and as a result of the accident, the Insurer shall pay the corresponding indemnities depending on whether loss is complete or partial, in accordance with the following table of percentages:

5.-In the event of anatomical or functional loss of more than one organ or limb, the indemnity is determined by the sum of the percentages corresponding to each injury, within the maximum guaranteed limit.

6.-For each finger joint only the total loss is considered as permanent functional loss, and the indemnity is established as follows: for the loss of a joint of the thumb or of the big toe, one half, and for the loss of the joint of any other finger one third of the percentage established for the total loss of the respective finger.

7.-For cases in which the injury is not expressly indicated in the above scale of percentages, the indemnity shall be established taking into account the degree to which the Insured's normal capacity to carry out paid work of any kind is permanently diminished.

8.-If after payment of indemnity for permanent disability, and as a result of the same accident that caused it, the Insured dies within twelve months of the accident, the Insurer will pay the difference between the indemnity paid and the indemnity insured for death, if this is higher, and will not require any reimbursement should the contrary occur.

9.-The Insurer is bound to pay the cost of the first prosthesis fitted to the Insured to correct residual injuries resulting from the accident covered by the policy. The indemnity for this prosthesis will not exceed 10% of the indemnity payable in the event of permanent disability and may never exceed the sum of 300 Euro.

10.-The absolute and permanent functional loss of a limb or organ is taken to be the same as its loss.

11.-Non-specific disabilities - to be compensated in proportion to the seriousness of the same by comparing them with those of the other cases listed above, without taking into account the profession of the Insured.

12.-The degree of disability resulting from an accident will be strictly based on the results of the accident itself and any aggravation of existing disabilities, organ diseases, conditions or ailments the Insured may have prior to the accident in limbs and organs not affected or affected by the accident will not be covered. In such cases (where pre-existing disabilities, conditions, organ diseases or ailments affected by the accident), the Insured will only be entitled to the indemnity corresponding to the difference between the pre-existing degree of disability or condition and that resulting after the accident.

13.-If the victim is left-handed and has so declared in the insurance form, the percentage provided for the right upper limb shall apply to the left upper limb and vice versa.

6.7.-OPTIONAL INCLUSION AGREEMENTS

6.7.1.-DIMINISHING DEDUCTIBLES

The deductible stated in the policy schedule for the specific breakdown cover will decrease by 25% per year, if no claim affecting this cover has been declared during the period between the effective date and the expiry of each insurance year.

The 25% annual deduction will be calculated on the amount of the initial deductible established in the policy.

Fiatc, Mutua de Seguros y Reaseguros

In the event of a claim being declared in the second or successive insurance annuities, the amount deductible for the following annuity would be that initially established in the policy. At the end of this period and provided that a new claim is not declared, the right to the reduction in the successive annuities would be reinstated.

6.7.2.-EXCLUSION AND LIMITATION SANCTIONS

The Insurer will be released from any responsibility and/or obligation and consequently will not be obliged to provide coverage nor will it have any responsibility or obligation to pay any amount related to an accident or any claim or to grant any benefit or benefit under or derived from this policy. , when or to the extent that providing said coverage, paying said loss or claim or granting said benefit or benefit may expose the Insurer to any type of sanction, prohibition or restriction based on United Nations resolutions or regulations, laws, economic sanctions or of commerce imposed by the European Union, the United Kingdom or the United States.

6.7.3.-NAVIGABLE WATERS COVERED BY THIS POLICY

The insurance cover extends to cover covered losses occurring in the Mediterranean Sea and in the navigable area between the Spanish and/or Portuguese and/or French coastline up to Calais and the miles from shore declared in the Special Conditions of your policy schedule, as well as crossings between the Iberian Peninsula and the Canary Islands.

In the event that marshes and rivers are declared as navigable areas, these will be included within Spanish territory only.

The navigable area of the insured vessel will be limited to that regulated and authorized by the regulations and/or competent maritime and waterway authorities for a vessel of its class, provided this area is of a lesser extent.

6.7.4.-CRITERIA FOR ASSESSING CLAIMS

The sum insured for the boat corresponds to its value as new when it is less than two years old from when built, or to its actual cash or market value if it is older.

When assessing claims, it will be taken into account that repairs will be assessed in accordance with their actual cost, without any claim for depreciation or for any other cause being admitted.

Total losses will be compensated as new for old (replacement) value for boats less than two years old, and at actual cash value immediately prior to the loss of the boat, for boats acquired second hand or with an age of more than two years.

If at the time of loss, it is found that the sum insured is more than 15% lower than the value as new or market value of the vessel in accordance with the above paragraphs, the Insurer will pay an indemnity for the damage in the same proportion as the declared value covers the insured interest (proportional rule).

The Insurer may consider a loss to be a total loss when the estimated cost of repairing the damaged vessel exceeds 75% of its actual cash value or value as new, according to the aforementioned age, in which case the loss shall be settled at that value, less assessment of the wreckage, which shall remain the property of the Insured.

If the parties agree at any time on the amount and form of indemnity, the Insurer must pay the agreed sum or carry out the necessary operations to repair or replace the insured vessel.
